Report on Cookery contest

Cookery contest to promote gender equality is conducted every year for students and staff .We all know that cooking is one of the basic necessities in today's life. May be it a boy or a girl, everyone should know the basics of cooking. Many times boys have to go far away from their family in case of better education, better earnings, etc. So if they know cooking they can prepare their own food and does not have to depend on others for their food. Keeping all these objectives in mind, the Department of MBA organized a competition in Cookery on 9/12/2017 in which boys gave a tough competition to girls.

Women's day celebrations (08/03/2017). Every year Women Grievances Cell (ICC) celebrates Women's Day with the following objectives: 8-3-2017.

- To empower girl students by inviting influential women speakers as chief guests.
- To explore their innate talents by conducting different competitions and utilize them to the maximum for the betterment of the society.
- To create a feel of empathy among the youth to their fellow beings.

For these celebrations, Dr. K. Madhavi, Vijayawada was invited as the chief guest. In her emotional address, she remarked that the present day youth should sacrifice some time for the betterment of the society which would bring a sea-change in the existing scenario. Prizes were distributed to the winners of various competitions.

Report on Cookery contest

Cookery contest to promote gender equality is conducted every year for students and staff .We all know that cooking is one of the basic necessities in today's life. May be it a boy or a girl, everyone should know the basics of cooking. Many times boys have to go far away from their family in case of better education, better earnings, etc. So if they know cooking they can prepare their own food and does not have to depend on others for their food. Keeping all these objectives in mind, the Department of MBA organized a competition in Cookery on 3.12.2015 in which boys gave a tough competition to girls.

Report on Women's Day Celebrations

Women's Day Celebrations: Women's Day was celebrated on 8/3/2015 for which Dr. V.Sridevi, Pediatrician, Mamata Children's Hospital was invited as the chief guest. While talking to the students, she said that today's adolescent girls are suffering from thyroid, obesity, migraine problems, etc at a very young age due to lack of physical exercise and over stress. She gave very valuable tips for health care management which makes them physically fit and strong. She also suggested students to take balanced diet and avoid eating road-side foods. Prizes were distributed by the chief guest to the winners of various competitions. All the female faculty members were present on the occasion.
